LIFERAY®

GOLD SERVICE PARTNER

OPEN SOURCE TEAM

Because we recognize your need to remain competitive in an increasingly networked and collaborative business environment, our open source practice has developed special expertise in key technology areas.

Our People

Our software engineers and architects are some of the most talented and experienced you'll work with. Customers leverage our team to select platforms and frameworks, architect systems, develop custom applications, customize packaged solutions, integrate systems, create mobile accessible data, oversee remote teams, and create agility in the development lifecycle.

Liferay Partnership

While we specialize in large scale custom development and enterprise systems integration, our Liferay team at sdg is staffed end-to-end with experienced project managers, business analysts, user experience specialists, architects, software engineers, and quality assurance staff. We are ready to help you create a plan and execute it – and we're pretty good at it too.
